STATES SPENT $955,466,000 ON HIGHWAYS

Bureau of Roads Reports on 1932 Construction in Nation

State highway expenditures in 1932 amounted to $955,466,000, according to information collected from state authorities by the Bureau of Public Roads, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Of this amount, $816,765,000 was expended for construction and maintenance of highways, interest on bonds and notes and miscellaneous expenses. These items represent the capital investment and current expenses on account of state highways. Other disbursements, such as principal payments on bonds, transfers to local road authorities and obligations imposed by statute totaled $138,681,000.

Maintenance of the state systems, which include 358,210 miles of main highways, gave employment to from 130,000 to 160,000 men throughout the year. States surfaced 29,500 miles of road and more than 6000 miles were graded. The direct employment furnished by this construction was 86,000 men in January. This rose to 215,000 in September and was 144,000 in December. For every man directly employed it is estimated that two others were indirectly employed in supplying and transporting materials and machinery.

Total funds available were $1,173,576,000, consisting of $275,259,000 balance from previous year, $632,200,000 current revenue from state sources, $161,467,000 federal and local contributions, and $104,650,000 from sale of bonds and notes. More than 90 per cent of the current state revenue was derived from motor vehicle fees and gasoline taxes.

REJECT SAN JOSE PORT PETITION

NATIONAL CODE WILL REQUIRE LUMBER BRAND

Regulations Effective January
1 to Establish Standard
Grades

"An article of the lumber code under the NRA which has not received much attention but is of great significance, is paragraph 'B' of Article XVI, which relates to the branding or marking of lumber," says a bulletin issued by the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association.

The bulletin continues:

"It might be said that merely as a by-product this section brings about or will bring about a reform in the lumber industry which, when undertaken several years ago and largely because of variable adherence, almost threw it into convulsions and did not attain a great deal of permanent progress. Under section 'B' fifty odd groups of forest products industries which are under the code 'undertake to adopt, apply and enforce branding or marking of lumber and timber products.' Not later than January 1 next the lumber code authority is required to submit to President Roosevelt provisions necessary to effectuate the requirements of paragraph 'B' as well as of trade practices generally.

"Such regulations are to become effective 30 days after approved by the President.

"This makes it certain that all lumber shipped in interstate commerce after the first of the year will have to be plainly marked as to species, grade, dimension and seasoning. Moreover, every consignment of timber, lumber, flooring, shingles and lath except for export must be accompanied by skipper's certificate covering quantity as well as grade. The retail lumber code correspondingly requires the handling of marked lumber by the retail distributors.

"Due probably to inertia, there has been great reluctance on the part of manufacturer, as well as lumber dealer, to take up grade marking. Even in cities where the building inspectors require grade marked lumber there has been a frequent disposition on the part of most dealers to find some way to avoid the necessity of handling grade-marked material.

"The difficulties interposed by both manufacturers and dealers frequently make it necessary for building inspectors to modify their requirements. A typical instance

C. C. C. DISTRICT SUPPLY BIDS

Regional Commanders Authorized to Make Necessary Purchases

District commanders in each locality are authorized to purchase many items used in the Civilian Conservation Camps of the Ninth Corps Area, according to a memorandum issued by General Malin Craig.

These purchases include construction materials and truck transportation and miscellaneous items used in erecting and equipping conservation camps.

Prospective bidders on these items should obtain information direct by addressing the District Commander at each of the following points:

Fort MacArthur, Calif.
March Field, Calif.
Presidio of Monterey, Calif.
Rockwell Field, Calif.
Eureka, Calif. (201 Federal Bldg.)
Fresno, Calif. (326 Brix Bldg.)
Marysville, Calif. (Calif. Packing Corp. Plant).
Redding, Calif. (Postoffice Bldg.)
Sacramento, Calif. (208 State Library and Court Bldg.)

is that of the city of Richmond, Cal., in the San Francisco Bay area, which, in drawing up specifications for a small field house for a proposed athletic field, included the requirement that the lumber be grade-marked. After the foundations were in place the building inspector was advised by the contractor that grade-marked lumber was not obtainable. Investigation revealed that only a limited amount of lumber, made by one company, was available in the San Francisco region.

SAN MATEO CO. BUILDING CODE NOW EFFECTIVE

Watson Announces Fees For Inspection Outside Cities

San Mateo County's new building ordinance is now in effect and in the future applications for building permits in unincorporated areas will have to be made to County Building Inspector William Watson, Jr., whose office is in the headquarters of County Surveyor James S. James at Redwood City. The building ordinance became effective September 15, after being approved by the supervisors.

In explaining the ordinance, Watson says:

"It will be necessary to make application to the county building inspector, located at 2525 Broadway, Redwood City, for a permit to construct or alter any and all buildings in the unincorporated territory of the county, except on agricultural property in units of five or more acres. Also, it will not be necessary to apply for a permit for farm accessory buildings, such as chicken houses, barns, etc., or improvements costing $50 or less.

"The fees for building permits will be as follows:

"For a total valuation from $51 to $1,000, a $2 fee, and an additional fee of $2 for each additional $1,000 or fraction thereof of total valuation to and including $15,000, and an additional fee of $1 for each additional $1,000 or fraction thereof of total valuation to and including $50,000, and an additional fee of 50 cents for each additional $1,000 or fraction thereof of a total valuation exceeding $50,000."

Copies of this new ordinance may be secured from Watson in Redwood City.

ENGINEERS START COULEE SURVEYS

Thirty-seven United States Reclamation Bureau engineers have started surveys preliminary to construction of the $63,000,000 Grand Coulee dam, 20 miles north of Almira, Wash., according to Chief Engineer Frank A. Banks.

The surveys will be run from a short distance below Seaton's Grand Coulee ferry on both sides of the Columbia river, north of Gerome, or approximately 25 miles above the mouth of the Spokane river.

The government field camp will be located one-half mile below the damsite on the west side of the river. The contractors' campsite probably will be on the east side of the river, a short distance below the ferry landing.

COMPTROLLER GIVES RULING ON NRA BIDS

Non-Member Bidder Not Disqualified; But Must Observe Code Regulations

The comptroller general has held that the terms of the executive order of August 10, 1933, do not require that a bidder, or contractor, with the United States for the delivery of supplies shall be a "member of the N. R. A."

However, he says: "The requirements is that every contract for supplies shall contain a stipulation that the contractor shall comply with the applicable code of fair competition for the trade or industry or subdivision thereof concerned, and if no such code, then with the President's re-employment agreement 'without regard to whether the contractor is himself a party to such code or agreement.' The contract must provide that in event of violation of such stipulation, the United States may terminate the contract and purchase the undelivered material and supplies in the open market and collect the excess cost, if any, from the contractor and his sureties.

"That is to say, you are not authorized to reject the low bid in this case simply because such low bidder is not a member of the N. R. A., but the contract entered into with such low bidder should contain the stipulations required by the terms of the executive order of August 10, 1933, and such procedure should be followed in all similar cases unless and until the executive order should be modified or revoked or the law should otherwise provide."

The executive order of August 10, 1933, provides, in part, as follows:

"(1) Contracts for Supplies—Every contract entered into within the limits of the United States (by which is meant the 48 states of the Union, the District of Columbia, the Territories of Hawaii and Alaska, the Panama Canal Zone, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands) by the United States or any of its agencies or instrumentalities for supplies mined, produced, or manufactured in the United States as contemplated by section 2, title III, of the act approved March 3, 1933, entitled 'An act making appropriations for the Treasury and Post Office Departments for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1934, and for other purposes' (Public No. 428, 72d Congress), except as set forth in the proviso under paragraph (a) below, shall provide and require that:

"(a) The contractor shall comply with all provisions of the applicable approved code of fair competition for the trade or industry or subdivision thereof concerned, or, if there be no approved code of fair competition for the trade or industry or subdivision thereof concerned, then with the provisions of the President's re-employment agreement promulgated under authority of section 4 (a) of the foregoing act, or any amendment thereof, without regard to whether the contractor is himself a party to such code or agreement:

"Provided, that where supplies are purchased that are not mined, produced, or manufactured in the United States, the special or general code of fair practice shall apply to that portion of the contract executed within the United States.

"(b) If the contractor fails to comply with the foregoing provision, the Government may by written notice to the contractor terminate the contractor's right to proceed with the contract and purchase in the open market the undelivered portion of the supplies covered by the contract, and the contractor and his sureties shall be liable to the Government for any excess cost occasioned the Government thereby."

SANFORD NAMED PRESIDENT OF STATE EXCHANGE

Convention Elects Officers For New Year; Endorses Code

H. M. Sanford of Richmond was elected president of the California Builders' Exchange at the exchange's two-day annual convention in Merced.

Harry Cayford of Fresno was re-elected secretary and C. E. McMullen of Fresno was elected a director.

A resolution declaring efforts to encourage the modernization of California communities through the replacement of antiquated buildings with modern ones to be the major project of the exchange for the coming year was adopted unanimously.

Compensation insurance rates within the construction industry are growing from year to year and have already reached such proportions they put a heavy burden on contractors, another resolution adopted by the convention stated. To meet this growing menace the exchange went on record as favoring legislation that will require that "the employe share his part of medical expenses, and that all exchanges take a more active part in the accident prevention program as outlined by the state accident prevention committee."

Much of the session was devoted to discussion of the building industry code proposed by the exchange.

Sanford succeeds Ralph Holmann of Los Angeles as president. Other officers were named as follows: C. W. Pettifer of Long Beach, first vice president; G. L. Peletz of Stockton, second vice president; H. L. Sweeney of Santa Barbara, third vice president; Roy M. Butcher of San Jose, fourth vice president; H. J. Weeks of Vallejo, treasurer.

New directors in addition to McMullen are: C. W. Pettifer, Long Beach; W. T. Loesch, Pasadena; S. J. Weeks, Vallejo; George Vance, Santa Ana; Roy M. Butcher, San Jose.

The holdover directors are: W. H. George, San Francisco; Ralph Homann, Los Angeles; L. S. Peletz, Stockton; P. M. Sanford, Richmond, and H. L. Sweeney, Santa Barbara.

THE WEEK'S NEWS Highlights

HIGHWAY WORK—Low bids on the six contracts for California state highway work received this week totaled $523,588, bringing the total on 61 contracts opened at Sacramento since September 13 to $5,887,000.

With twelve weeks remaining before Christmas, the commission must average a pace of a little more than $1,000,000 per week to reach its promised $20,000,000 awards before the holidays.

PWA FUNDS—Applications from public agencies are starting toward the California Public Works Advisory Board from every section of the state, promising expenditure of more millions in construction of every description.

Major applications to date include:

Sacramento Utility District, $15,700,000.

East Bay Utility District, $8,409,506.

Joint Highway District No. 13, $3,752,035.

Los Angeles Water and Power Bureau, $37,794,000.

ARMY BUILDING—With more than four and a half million dollars at their disposal, constructing quartermasters at San Francisco Bay district army posts, Hamilton Field and Presidio of San Francisco are rushing specifications to the advertising stage with the prospect of receiving bids early in October. Work to be done includes completion of Hamilton Field in Marin County at a cost of about $3,500,000, and major reconstruction and improvements at the Presidio to cost $1,000,000.

BIG LUMBER ORDERS FROM STATE CAMPS

Many Building Material Items
Requisitioned by
C. C. C.

Location in California of 134 camps of the Civilian Conservation Corps, or about one-tenth of all the camps in the United States, means that local material men will benefit greatly from the huge expenditure involved in converting these camps into suitable winter quarters.

Reconstruction of the camps, just started under supervision of district commanders, is to be completed by the end of October. Officials have indicated that in many instances skilled labor will be engaged to assist in erecting the buildings, although wherever possible camp labor will be utilized.

General Fechner, director of the camps, announced in Washington yesterday that 250,000,000 board feet of lumber will be required for the camp building program at 1466 winter camp sites. Orders for this lumber will be issued on competitive bids through the district commander in each locality.

In California these district commanders are located at the following points: Fort MacArthur, March Field, Presidio of Monterey, Rockwell Field, 201 Federal Building, Eureka; 326 Brix Building, Fresno; California Packing Corporation Plant, Marysville; Postoffice Building, Redding, 208 State Library Building, Sacramento.

A typical camp will require 75,000 feet of lumber, according to specifications issued by the quartermaster.

This is used as follows:

Barracks (each)	18,205 ft.
Kitchen and mess	10,565 ft.
Administration building	20,715 ft.
Infirmary	9,145 ft.
Foresters' building	8,941 ft.
Miscellaneous small build- ings	10,000 ft.

In addition to the lumber and hardware, each camp plan requires building paper, roofing felt, floor covering, plumbing, water heating, sheet metal and electrical materials and equipment. The estimated cost of materials used at each camp is from $4000 to $5000, depending upon the number of men to be accommodated.

MASONRY CODE HEARING SET NEXT THURSDAY

National Association Sponsors
Proposed Trade
Charter

Hearing on the code of the concrete masonry industry will start October 5 at Washington, Deputy Administrator Malcolm Muir announced yesterday.

The code is sponsored by the National Concrete Masonry Association, which claims to represent 60 per cent of the industry.

The code provides a basic maximum work week of 40 hours, not more than 48 hours in any one week or more than 8 hours in any one day, averaged over 15 weeks. Minimum wages, 48 cents an hour for factory workers, except that for employes on piece work a guaranteed minimum of 30 cents an hour; for clerical employes not less than $15 a week and for those engaged in professional, executive or supervisory capacities, not less than $35 a week. The code stipulates that employers shall provide for the safety and welfare of their workmen and to that end shall comply with all legal requirements affecting the safety and health of workers. It also declares that employes shall so administer work as to provide the maximum practical continuity of employment.

Those wishing to be heard must comply with the following requirements:

(1) A written or telegraphic request for an opportunity to be heard must be filed before noon on Wednesday, October 4, 1933, with the Administrator, Room 442, Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C.

(2) Such request shall state the name of (a) any person seeking to testify in the hearing, and (b) the persons or groups whom he represents.

(3) Such request shall contain a statement setting forth without argument a proposal: (1) for the elimination of a specific provision of the code; or (2) a modification of a specific provision, in language proposed by the witness, or (3) a provision to be added to the code, in language proposed by the witness.

(4) At the public hearings, all persons are regarded as witnesses and shall present orally facts only and not argument. Written briefs or arguments may be filed, but oral presentations will be confined to factual statements only.

SELFRIDGE NAMED LUMBER ADVISOR

M. W. Stark, Columbus, Ohio, has resigned as lumber industry adviser to Thomas Glasgow, deputy NRA administrator, and E. A. Selfridge has been appointed by General Johnson to succeed him. Mr. Stark has accepted the position of executive director of the National Millwork Association, which constitutes a division under the lumber code. Mr. Stark's offices will be in Chicago.

Mr. Selfridge is well known in the lumber industry and in the government. He was for many years a successful lumber manufacturer in the California redwood region. After retirement he was urged to become a lumber trade commissioner of the Department of Commerce, and he served some years in that capacity in the Far East and in Europe, having his headquarters respectively at Tokyo and London. He designed four years ago to follow his agricultural hobbies on a farm in Connecticut, but General Johnson persuaded him to return to public life for a while.

C. Arthur Bruce, executive of the lumber code authority, has called authority meetings as follows: Price committee, October 2; central control committee, October 9; full meeting of the authority, October 16. All meetings will be held in the authority offices at 1337 Connecticut Ave., Washington, D. C.

M. Wicklein, labor advisor for the fabricated metal products industry.

(5) In the discretion of the Deputy Administrator in charge of the hearing, persons who have not complied with the requirements of paragraph (1), above, may be permitted at any time prior to the close of the hearing to file written statements containing proposals for elimination from, modifications of, or additions to the code supported by pertinent information or argument. Johnson Address Clarifies Relation Of Employers and Labor Under NIRA

The most authoritative statement which has yet come from the National Recovery Administration with relation to the controversial subject of Section 7 (a) of the National Recovery Act, relating to the right of organized labor to bargain collectively, is contained in the address which General Johnson delivered before the Illinois Federation of Labor at the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago on September 4, says a bulletin issued by the Industrial Association of San Francisco.

The quotation relating to this question as reported by the association follows:

"One of the most unfortunate developments in the recovery program is the suspicion and conflict that it seems in a few cases to have aroused between management and workers. The part of this administration is to execute this law faithfully and as it came from Congress. This law establishes the right of workers to organize and to deal with their employers through any representatives whom they may choose. Workers are not compelled to do this. They can deal with their employers individually if they so choose. And whether they are organized or not their interests will be protected as to maximum and minimum wages in every hearing under a code.

"The obligation of employers is not to seek to interfere with efforts of workers to organize or with their choice of representatives. Employers cannot refuse to bargain about conditions of employment with the self-chosen representatives of their workers. Employers cannot make as a condition of employment that their workers join a company union. But employers are not compelled to agree on any particular scale of wages or conditions of employment merely because they are bargaining with self-chosen representatives of organized workers. And no employer is denied the right to bargain individually with any worker if the worker so chooses.

"It is, however, the workers' choice as to whether he shall bargain individually or collectively through a representative. If an employer should make a contract with a particular organization to employ only members of that organization, especially if that organization did not have 100 per cent membership among his employes, that would in effect be a contract to interfere with his workers' freedom of choice of their representatives or with their right to bargain individually and would amount to employer coercion on these matters, which is contrary to the law.

"That is the meaning and effect of the law as this administration understands it. Most of the trouble we have seen comes from the attempt of employers on the one hand or organizations on the other to read some different or more favorable interpretation into the law. We cannot permit that. We cannot be for or against any particular organization or any particular partisan view.

"It is our job to protect the rights of both workers and management exactly as they are written in the law. In this administration there is one advisory board of outstanding industrial leaders and another of outstanding labor leaders. These devoted men are working regardless of hours and personal convenience. The views of both sides are thus adequately represented on every question that comes up, but neither board votes and this administration is neither dominated by nor under the influence of either. Thus far there have been no disagreements between them or with the administration. It is our duty to hear every view, and of course great weight is given to the opinion of these men. But the responsibility for ultimate decision rests with the President.

"Coercive measures on either side are wrong. It is as bad for an organization to tell workers that if they do not join a particular union they will get no rights as it is for employers to tell their men that if they do not join company unions they will get no rights.

$20,000,000 FOR OREGON PROJECT IS ALLOCATED

Dam and Power Plant to be Finnced on Columbia River at Bonneville

Allotment of $20,000,000 by the Public Works Administrator for construction of the Bonneville dam and six units of a power plant at a site on the Columbia River, Bonneville, Ore., was reported yesterday in Washington.

The total cost of the project, a combined power, navigation and flood control development, is placed at $31,000,000.

Bonneville is about forty miles above Portland and two miles below the Cascade rapids in Columbia gorge. Construction will be under the Chief of Army Engineers.

The amount of the appropriation indicates that the 72-foot dam with full substructures for power and the completion of two units for operation, of 90,000 kilowatts' capacity have received approval.

The plan approved by President Roosevelt covers completion of locks and dams for navigation, six units of power house foundations, two complete units of 45,000 watts power each or about 120,000 horsepower.

The first expenditures scheduled will involve $3,650,000 for the relocation of highways and railroads, and $780,000 for the purchase of improvements to the reservoir area which includes Bradford Island.

Surveys and completion of drillings on the Oregon side will cost about $300,000; roads and bridges to the damsite will require $380,000, and housing of employes will entail an expenditure of $100,000.

Actual construction will start with excavation on the Oregon side, preparing for diversion of the river from the main channel, and the construction of cofferdams in the main stream.

Floodgates will be provided on the Washington side so the river may flow there while cofferdams are constructed on the Oregon side. Then will follow the power structures and dam between Bradford Island and Bonneville.

The army engineers have estimated that construction could start within 45 days and that the project could be completed by June, 1935.

$6,426,000 STATE HIGHWAY WORK NOW UNDER WAY

Commission Has Eleven Weeks To Complete $20,000,000 Awards

Low bids on eight California state highway contracts received at Sacramento on Wednesday total $539,267, approximately the same figure as the aggregate of low bids on last week's openings.

This total brings the openings for the first four weeks of the highway construction program to $6,426,000. The commission has 11 weeks in which to open bids on the remaining thirteen and a half million dollars worth of work promised before Christmas by State Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly. Kelly has pledged his department to have 50,000 men employed on $20,000,000 of highway contracts by December 25.

Following are the low bidders on each of the contracts opened Wednesday:

SISKIYOU COUNTY: Grade and surface 0.8 mi., A. Teichert & Son, Sacramento, $59,457.

SANTA BARBARA COUNTY: Grading and widening pavement 0.6 mi., Kovacevich & Price, Southgate, $23,339.

MONO COUNTY: Grade and surface 9.7 mi., Southwest Paving Co., Los Angeles, $191,235.

MONTEREY COUNTY: Carmel River Bridge, Bodenhamer Construction Co., Oakland, $36,939.

MONTEREY COUNTY: Willow Creek Bridge, Associated Constructors, Inc., Los Angeles, $33,665.

VENTURA COUNTY: Calleguas Creek Bridge, Associated Constructors, Inc., Los Angeles, $26,851.

SHASTA COUNTY: Grade and surface 15.9 mi., A. Teichert & Son, Sacramento, $123,785.

LOS ANGELES COUNTY: Undergrade crossing, Kovacevich & Price, $43,496.

WAGE BOOST STOPS $98,000 COURT HOUSE

Tulare County Authorities Drop Plans to Erect Addition

Tulare county's building program, including the proposed $98,000 addition to the county courthouse on which bids were to have been opened Monday, will be indefinitely delayed until conditions in the building industry are "more settled," the board of supervisors indicated after returning all bids received on the courthouse work.

The bids on the courthouse addition were rejected unopened technically because the bid call failed to comply with the PWA wage scale requirements. It was reported, however, that the bids would have been rejected after opening because they exceeded the estimated cost.

Concerns submitting bids were Frank J. Reilly, Val Franz and MacDonald & Kahn of San Francisco and W. J. Ochs of San Jose.

The formal statement issued by the board following its action follows:

"The Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works and the Labor Advisory Board have recently entered into an agreement in reference to public works construction where federal funds are to be used.

"At the time we called for bids, this agreement was not at hand and its contents unknown to us. Since the advertisement of the call for bids, the agreement is before us, and after an examination of the same I am of the opinion that the notice to bidders does not comply with the requirements of the aforesaid agreement, and I would therefore advise that the awarding of the contract under those conditions would be ill advised."

The wage scale set by the supervisors and placed in the specifications listed the following wages: bricklayers, $6.50; roofers, $4; plasterers, $6.50; iron workers, $5; plumbers, $5; electricians, $6; carpenters, $4; laborers, $3.50 and painters, $4.

FIVE LICENSES SUSPENDED BY STATE BUREAU

Huntington Invokes Penalties For Alleged Misconduct Of Contractors

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 4.—Charged with the illegal abandonment of a contract for construction of a new post office at Redlands, San Bernardino County, the state contractor's license of Fred J. Carstens, 1012 Elton St., Baldwin Park, today was unconditionally revoked by Col. Carlos W. Huntington, registrar of contractors.

Suspension of the licenses of four other contractors, as a result of investigation which showed them to be guilty of illegal or fraudulent practices, was also announced by Colonel Huntington, a member of Governor Rolph's cabinet.

Carstens, according to evidence disclosed in the investigation, used an inferior mixture of concrete in the erection of the Redlands post office, which resulted in the concrete being torn out, with a resultant loss of $1400, it was alleged.

He is alleged to have abandoned the project in violation of the State Contractors' Act following investigation by federal and state authorities.

The license of the Consolidated Building Company, Los Angeles, was suspended following investigation of charges that the firm accepted $250 deposit on a contract to erect a $4600 home for C. E. Le Long, Los Angeles, and then failed to carry out the contract. The license was suspended for a minimum of 60 days and until the company makes satisfactory restitution to DeLong, it was stated. P. T. Barnes is president of the firm.

Claiming that it was a "common practice among sheet metal firms to substitute an inferior grade of metal," R. L. Bischoff Sheet Metal Works, Long Beach, appeared before registrar Huntington and admitted charges of substitution of a lighter gauge sheet metal on a Huntington Beach project. Company officials testified they "did not feel the project was injured."

The license of the firm was suspended, and judgment was withheld pending satisfactory restitution and strict adherence to the law.

Dave Witkoff, Los Angeles, was found guilty following investigation by the registrar's office on charges of diversion of funds advanced for the construction of a home on a $1700 contract, of which $900 was advanced by Victor and Eva Katz,

BURNETT HAMILTON NEW CO. ENGINEER

Burnett Hamilton, city engineer of Alameda, has been appointed Alameda County Surveyor to succeed the late George H. Wilhelm.

Hamilton's appointment was by unanimous vote of the Board of Supervisors. He was nominated by Supervisor Ralph Richmond.

Hamilton will take the place of the man who gave him his first job after he had left the University of California. In 1911 Hamilton, a young graduate engineer, went to work for the engineering firm of Daniels & Wilhelm in San Francisco. The junior partner in this firm was George H. Wilhelm, who had been county surveyor two years at the time of his death two weeks ago.

Hamilton helped to lay out the Thousand Oaks and Haddon Hill subdivisions in the Eastbay, and the Marina in San Francisco. In 1917 he was appointed assistant city engineer of Alameda, and held that post until July, 1921, when he was named city engineer.

Hamilton lives at 3237 Bayo Vista Avenue, Alameda, with his wife and an 18-year-old son. He is 45.

The appointment was made after the supervisors had personally interviewed ten other candidates for the position.

Los Angeles. His license was ordered suspended for a period of 60 days, with the suspension to continue in force until such time as restitution was made to the satisfaction of Registrar Huntington.

The license of Alfred J. Peterson, Los Angeles, was also ordered suspended for 60 days following investigation of charges preferred by Mrs. Lina Kieckhofel, 1605 Sargent Place, Los Angeles, it was announced.

34 ADDITIONAL FOREST CAMPS FOR CALIFORNIA

Ten Million Feet of Lumber To be Used in Buildings

In addition to the $9 C.C.C. winter camps in the California national forests the U. S. Forest Service will establish 34 additional camps under N.R.A. appropriations for the improvement and development of the forest resources, according to S. B. Show, Regional Forester. Most of these camps will be in operation by October 15 or sooner. The principal work will be the construction and maintenance of secondary roads in the national forests. Distribution of the N.R.A. camps by national forests is:

Angeles 1, Eldorado 1, Klamath 4, Lassen 2, Mendocino 3, Modoc 2, Plumas 2, San Bernardino 1, Santa Barbara 4, Sequoia 3, Shasta 3, Sierra 2, Stanislaus 1, Tahoe 1, Trinity 4.

Latest reports from the office of Robert Fechner gave California a total of 151 C.C.C. winter camps, an increase of 27 over the previous report. These will be distributed as follows: National forests $9, State Division of Forestry 38, national parks 10, and state parks 14. Present locations for 93 camps are approved for winter work and the necessary alterations will be made to make them suitable for cold weather. Fifty-eight new camps will have to be built. Alterations and new construction will require approximately 10 million feet of lumber besides other building material. All winter camps will be equipped with electric lighting systems.

The distribution of C.C.C. camps by national forests as now approved is Angeles 15, Cleveland 9, Eldorado 1, Inyo 1, Klamath 7, Lassen 3, Mendocino 1, Modoc 1, Plumas 3, San Bernardino 12, Santa Barbara 15, Sequoia 4, Shasta 5, Sierra 1, Stanislaus 3, Tahoe 1, Trinity 6, Siskiyou 1.

Pacific Portland Cement Co. To Sue Gate Bridge District, Says McCarthy

Pacific Portland Cement Company will file suit against the Golden Gate Bridge District to enforce its contract for furnishing cement to the general contractors on the Golden Gate bridge, J. A. McCarthy, vice-president and general manager of the company, declared yesterday.

Mr. McCarthy's statement follows:

"Our attorneys inform us that the change in the contract for the San Francisco pier and fender made by the directors of the bridge district, under which the 'pink' cement was directed to be substituted for our Portland cement, was clearly illegal and will be so declared by the courts, particularly in view of the fact that the 'pink' cement is covered by a patent which Mr. Cameron's company, the Santa Cruz Portland Cement Company, owns, and therefore his company alone can manufacture and supply the same to the bridge district, and Mr. Cameron, who is one of the directors of the bridge district, is therefore interested in the contract as so changed. We are informed that under the law this makes the changed contract illegal and void, and consequently the bridge district should proceed with the contract as originally made and under which our cement was being furnished.

"There would seem to be no justification whatever for the directors making the change they did and precluding our Portland cement from being furnished. Our contracts were entered into many months ago, and we have at all times complied with the terms thereof, and the Portland cement which we have furnished has been tested continually by the bridge district and has been found to be fully in accordance with the specifications. We are still ready, able and willing to proceed with our contracts. According to a statement made by Earl Lee Kelly, State Director of Public Works, in the newspapers on the 3rd inst.,

the State Toll Bridge Authority of California has recently specified for the construction of the Oakland-San Francisco Bay bridge the identical kind of Portland cement which we have agreed to furnish for use by the Golden Gate Bridge District, and Mr. Kelly says that this same kind of Portland cement has been 'recommended' for use on the Oakland-San Francisco Bay bridge 'by the United States Bureau of Standards, by the Portland Cement Association, representing all manufacturers, by the University of California Engineering Department as a result of Boulder dam studies, and by the Consulting Board of Engineers representing the best engineering talent available.

"Under these circumstances and in view of this recommendation and this action by the state authorities in the case of the Oakland-San Francisco Bay bridge, there is of course no justification for the directors of the Golden Gate Bridge District throwing out our cement and substituting the 'pink' cement of Mr. Cameron's company in its place in the San Francisco pier and fender of the Golden Gate bridge. We are confident that no court will permit such a plan to be carried out.

"We have gone to very great expense in preparing ourselves to manufacture the large quantity of Portland cement necessary to fill our contract and in order to have the cement ready for prompt delivery as the work progresses. We also have on hand a very large amount of this cement ready for delivery which has been tested by the representatives of the bridge district and set aside for the work. We feel that we have been treated most unfairly. We have done all that we could to persuade the directors not to make the change in the contract and not to force us into litigation. We now have no recourse left except to bring a suit to prevent the unlawful substitution from being carried out."

METAL LATH ASSN. IS ORGANIZED

After two years of inactivity, during which their trade group known as the Associated Metal Lath Manufacturers was dissolved, the manufacturers in the metal lath industry have reorganized under the name of Metal Lath Manufacturers' Association with offices at 208 S. La Salle St., Chicago, Ill.

Erwin M. Laurie, who was with the old association for over ten years, also its secretary, and well known in the building construction field, has been appointed secretary for the new association. In recent years he has written several handbooks dealing with fire protection and uses of metal lath and related products and been active in building code, research and promotional activities connected with architects and builders. Prior to resuming his trade association activities he was associated with a large plastering contractor as engineer-superintendent of plastering on federal building projects.

For the time being the new organization's activities are being confined to work connected with the NRA, and with engineering and research problems for the industry. Correspondence from architects, engineers, contractors and building mechanics in connection with building codes or with matters related to the plastering and lathing industry is invited.

National Retail Lumber Code Is Completed; Early Adoption Expected

Geo. W. Dulany, Jr., chairman of the board of directors of American Forest Products Industries, Inc., and industry adviser of the N.R.A. for the retail lumber code, concluded his labors in that capacity with the final submission of the code to General Johnson for approval. Two or three matters which will be cleared within a day or two are all that is delaying promulgation of the code, and it is confidently expected to be approved by the President within a few days. Before returning to Chicago, Mr. Dulany said that the six weeks delay in getting the code through was due to the fact that although it was the thirtieth code to be heard and the first in the retail group, it was caught in a jam of hundreds of codes that piled in thereafter at a time when the machinery of examination was being revised. About fifty other codes were similarly caught.

"The retail lumber code," Mr. Dulany continued, "contains no exceptional feature outside of the treaty arrangement with the builders' supplies code. The two codes run parallel in hours and wages, and there is a provision that wherever a dealer is both a lumber retailer and a hard materials dealer his code relations may be with the regional retail lumberman's association or with the regional administration of the builders' supply code, according to which is best suited to handle the particular membership. It is also provided that there shall be no proselyting of members between the two groups.

"The final form of the code is much better in many respects than the earlier form, but the wage scale stands as it originally was on 40 hours a week and a 25c minimum in the South. The code contains the control and protective features except that the anti-dumping section and the distribution statement plus some changes in the local enforcement powers were eliminated. The last and some other important matters are relegated to the Code Authority. There may be some disappointment over the code among those who thought it would give retailers immediate power to correct all their business troubles overnight, but it certainly does give us the machinery with which to work out a better condition. The local enforcement groups are not involved with authority to work injustices, but they do have the power to collect competent evidence and file complaints through proper channels against violators of the code.

"The NRA idea of voluntary co-operation to improve business conditions is commendable, and every effort should be made to achieve success for it. Working out the details of such a plan is very difficult, and is made more so when people on either side return to the selfish and greedy ideas which have prevailed so long and which have brought the nation and the world to their present low estate.

"Now that the two great divisions of the lumber industry—the manufacturers and the distributors—have their codes, making possible more satisfactory business functioning than ever before, the next step, in my opinion, both as a manufacturer and a retailer, is recognition by the manufacturer that the retailers really constitute their sales organization. It is incumbent upon the manufacturer if the lumber industry is to prosper as it may, to devote thought, time, energy and money to instructing the retailers as if they were salesmen on their payroll. The real competition from which lumber is suffering today is, in my opinion, not so much the competition within the industry as competition from without. Manufacturers and retailers must form a solid phalanx to conquer in their common interest the largest possible slice of the consumer's dollar. It is not only substitute materials that lumber must consider, but also entirely different groups. People, for instance, cannot buy and build homes if they are spending all of their savings on automobiles. We must create the public psychology that will give lumber, as well as other building materials, a square deal in the allocation of the incomes of the people."

LIGHTING CAMPAIGN PLANNED FOR FALL

Because few of the owners of the more than twenty million wired homes in this country know how to use light correctly and to teach everyone to derive the most benefit from home illumination, Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company will launch a nation-wide campaign this fall, according to L. A. S. Wood, manager of the lighting products division, who spoke at the closing session of the jobbers' and dealers' meeting at the Hotel Pennsylvania.

"The Westinghouse campaign," Mr. Wood said, "will tie in closely with the lighting activity which the Edison Electric Institute has planned for the fall to enable home owners to get the most out of the money they spend for lighting current.

"Better light—better sight," the slogan of the lighting activity, will concentrate on how floor, table and indirect portable lamps should be used so that the light they produce can best be used for reading, bridge and other indoor pastimes necessary strain.

ROBERT WARNS ARCHITECTS OF PROMOTING JOBS

Position Jeopardized by Employment of Special Legal Assistance

The Treasury Department will look with much disfavor on those architects or engineers who retain legal counsel in Washington to aid them in securing professional contracts from the department; in fact, it will be the disposition of the department to eliminate such architects and engineers from consideration altogether. This announcement was recently made by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Robert, who has requested the American Institute of Architects and American Engineering Council to make the attitude of his office widely known.

Early in the summer the Treasury Department learned that certain Washington lawyers had been soliciting engineers, architects and others interested in obtaining government business, representing that to retain such counsel would enhance the opportunities of the engineers and architects to obtain desirable contracts. This activity has been particularly prevalent in western states, the Engineering Council stated.

The Treasury Department has not made the names of the lawyers who engaged in this practice public, feeling that probably they did not realize (1) that their proposal was in itself a reflection on certain government officials; (2) that representation of the nature lawyers would provide could not possibly have any bearing upon the selections made by the Treasury Department.

"The department desires to make its selections on the merits of each case alone. There is no disposition on the part of the department to prosecute any of the parties concerned but it does want it emphatically understood that such a practice will be outlawed," the bulletin concludes.

START WORK ON CAISSON OF GATE PIER

Steel Ready for Marin Tower; To Being Construction Immediately

Construction of the caisson for the south pier of the Golden Gate Bridge was commenced Monday at the plant of the Moore Drydock Company on the Oakland estuary, according to General Manager Jas. Reed of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District.

Reed stated that work on the caisson will be rushed so that it will be ready to float into place off Fort Point when the fender sections are in place. The first of these steel sections which will go into the fender wall has been completed and placed on a barge at the Moore plant in readiness for delivery at Fort Point. The remaining fender sections are being fabricated and it is expected that erection of the fender at the pier site will commence within a week. This work will continue until sufficient fender wall units have been placed to form a semi-elliptical enclosure, with the east end left open.

At this stage the completed caisson will be floated into place and the fender wall will be completed, forming a protected enclosure for caisson operations.

Meanwhile word was received from the McClintic-Marshall Corporation Monday that all of the steel for the Marin tower, representing an expenditure of over a million dollars, has been rolled at the Pottstown plant of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

Erection of the Marin tower is scheduled to commence within a few days, according to General Manager Reed, the grinding operations, which will bring the top surface of the Marin pier to within one-thirty-second of an inch of a true plane, now being forty per cent completed.

Work on the anchorages also is going forward at a rapid pace, 400 tons of anchorage steel now being in place in the San Francisco pier and all of the anchorage steel in place in the Marin pier, which is being made ready for the final concrete pouring operations.

Almost 3500 tons of nickel steel plate will be used to hold the cable eye bars on the new San Francisco-Oakland Bridge.

The appropriation approved by the Public Works Administration is $2,689,000. It provides for a six-story and basement structure.

Bids for the new building were received first on February 28, but all low bidders refused the award when the treasury department delayed action on the proposals for several months.

Arthur Brown, Jr., San Francisco, is the architect.

CODE BUREAU IS ESTABLISHED BY REGISTRAR

Mano Zan Appointed to Direct Coordination of State Groups

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 9—Machinery to assist state recovery act administrators in expediting the adoption of fair practice codes for the building and construction industry was set in motion here today by Col. Carlos W. Huntington, state registrar of contractors.

Establishment of a bureau of NRA Co-ordination in the office of Registrar of Contractors was announced by Col Huntington as the first step toward aiding the industry in dealing with the complicated code problem.

The bureau was established as a result of orders by Governor James Rolph Jr., instructing state agencies to co-operate to the fullest extent in the recovery drive. The bureau will function as an advisory and co-ordinating agency.

Immediately following this action, Glen V. Slater, assistant registrar, announced that Mano Zan, staff inspector, had been assigned to assume charge of the co-ordination activities.

Zan is widely known in the building and construction industry as a trade association executive in Southern California. In his new job, Zan will divide his time between the Sacramento, San Francisco and Los Angeles offices of the Registrar.

Huntington pointed out that establishment of the bureau is a result of demands of virtually the entire industry that the Contractors Bureau take an active part in aiding the industry to draft its codes. The contractors registration bureau was established four years ago to enforce an act which embraces virtually all of the broad, fundamental principles of the national recovery act.

"Because of the magnitude of the state's building and construction industry, as well as the many trade groups involved, the matter of drafting codes of fair practice for

FUNDS ALLOTTED FOR DAM ENGINEERING

An allotment of $250,000 for the purpose of making a preliminary investigation and developing plans for the Bonneville Dam on the Columbia River, Oregon, was announced yesterday by Federal Public Works Administrator Harold L. Ickes.

The investigation will be made by the Army Engineer Corps and will be started in the near future.

The purpose of this preliminary work is to determine whether a suitable dam can be built at the Bonneville site without serious construction difficulties and whether sufficient power and navigation facilities can be developed.

The first code of complete development of the Bonneville site, with a power plant having an installed capacity of not less than $450,000 kilowatts, is estimated at $43,900,000.

all branches of the industry has become an extremely complex problem," Huntington said.

"Therefore, in order to carry out the mandate of Governor Rolph and render the greatest possible assistance to the state recovery act administrators and to the entire industry itself, we are assigning an inspector to aid in this matter.

"This step was also unanimously requested by the various units and groups in the industry which come under the jurisdiction of the registrar of contractors, all of whom were fully cognizant of the difficult task of formulating satisfactory codes.

"In assigning Mano Zan to this task, we feel we have selected a man whose experience and training enable him to handle the task before him in an efficient and creditable manner. He has been associated in an executive capacity in the industry for many years, and enjoys the confidence and support of all factions of the industry.

"In his new assignment, Mr. Zan will function in the capacity of a liaison officer. He will co-operate with the industry and with the State Recovery Administrators, Edwin M. Daugherty, commissioner of corporations, and T. A. Reardon, director of industrial relations."

CALIF. LEAGUE FILES PROPOSED INDUSTRY CODE

Early Hearing Asked on Recommended Basic Regulation of Construction

A proposed state basic code of fair practice for the construction industry was filed yesterday in San Francisco with the commissioner of corporations by the Construction League of California, with a request that a hearing be scheduled early in November in San Francisco and that a similar hearing be held immediately thereafter in Los Angeles.

The Construction League of California is the state representative of the Construction League of the United States, sponsors of a national basic code which already has been presented in Washington.

Charles F. B. Roeth, architect and president of the Construction League of California, said the state league's code was modeled as closely as practicable after the national code, in order that the national code provisions might be substituted easily in the event it is adopted after the California agreement is in operation.

"In bringing together the membership of the Construction League of California, which is a unit of the Construction League of the United States," Mr. Roeth said, "we have drawn on all sections of the industry, including architects, engineers, both civil and structural, general contractors from the building and engineering groups, sub-contractors, both organized and unorganized.

"This was done in order that we might have the opinions and suggestions of an entire cross-section of the industry and it is our further intention to utilize the newly-created Division of NRA Coordination of the Contractors' License Bureau in an effort to contact every organized group in the construction industry and urge that they obtain copies of the basic code.

"The purpose of such widespread distribution is to make it possible for all such groups to have a part in making suggestions for whatever changes they might deem necessary and to obtain widespread endorsement of this basic code prior to the hearing date.

"In the program and machinery laid out in the basic code just filed, we are of the opinion that the ground work has been laid for administration and control of the construction industry that has been badly needed for years and that with care and proper guidance under the national and state recovery acts we will be able to establish again conditions wherein the business as a whole will proceed on a stable and profitable basis."

STATE INCREASE IN INDUSTRY PAYROLLS 6.4%

Favorable Employment and Earnings Statistics Reported by Commission

Statewide employment in the construction industry was 6.4 percent greater in September this year than in September a year ago, according to reports from 160 identical firms compiled by the State Division of Labor Statistics.

The number of employees reported on payrolls in September was 6,811.

September employment, however showed a decrease of 4.5 percent in number of employes and 2.4 percent in total weekly payrolls compared with the preceding month. Average per capita weekly earnings were 2.2 percent higher in September than in August, but 12.1 percent less than in September last year.

Construction industry employment in various sections of the state compared as follows: Alameda-San Francisco, decrease 8.2 percent in September compared with September, 1932; Los Angeles increase 13.8 percent; remainder of state, increase 16 percent. Average increase 6.4 percent.

Comparing September with August employment: Alameda-San Francisco decreased 8.8 percent; Los Angeles decreased 10.4 percent; remainder of state increased 10 percent. Average decrease, 4.5 percent.

PLUMBING ORDINANCE FOR COUNTY PROPOSED

San Mateo county supervisors have given first reading to an ordinance regulating plumbers in the unincorporated area. The act provides for registration of plumbers licensing and regulation of installation and repair of all plumbing, gas and sewer services and fixtures.

An annual license fee of $12 for resident plumbers is prescribed.

The ordinance will be before the supervisors for second reading at their meeting next week.

$25,000,000 FOR MATERIALS IN FOREST CAMPS

Millwork is Big Item of Building Quarters For 1466 Locations

The estimate was made public yesterday by Wilson Compton, who has been co-operating with Robert Fehner, Director of the Emergency Conservation Work, that approximately $25,000,000 will be expended within the next sixty days on building materials and equipment and labor in providing the 1,466 Conservation Camps with suitable winter quarters.

In addition to 250,000,000 or 300,000,000 feet of lumber there will be an enormous quantity of millwork. There will, for instance, be approximately 26,000 doors and 175,000 windows in these camps. The doors alone will require seven miles of a single variety of moulding strip.

While the lumber and millwork will cost around $10,000,000, fully as much more will be expended on other accessory materials, equipment and labor. It is calculated that about 45,000 carpenters, other skilled workmen and common laborers will be employed. Purchases are being made through the Quartermaster at each Army Corps Area headquarters.

Many contracts have been let already and thousands of carloads of materials are or will soon be on their way to the various camps. One southern mill is already delivering lumber at camp rail heads in the Northeast faster than C.C.C. trucks can take it away.

This mill is shipping its lumber in solid freight trains running passenger train time schedules—not more than four days elapsing between loading and delivery. The Administration and the War Department have expressed themselves as much gratified at the promptness with which manufacturers and the railroads have co-operated in making speedy deliveries.

FEDERAL SERVICE OPENS YUBA OFFICE

POSTPONE WAGE INCREASES FOR YEAR PROPOSAL

Administration Offered Plan to Stabilize Construction Industry

"Agree to postpone wage increases and reduction of hours in the construction industry and in the materials industries, for one year, with the firm announcement that on Sept. 1, 1934, wages go up 20% and hours are cut to 40 a week, with the further proviso that on March 1, 1935, wages go up another 20% and hours are cut to 30—and you have the makings of an early revival of the very sick construction industry. So reasons the dazzling plan suggested by Malcolm Pirnie, deputy administrator under Malcolm Muir for the construction industry, and Roy Wentzlick of St. Louis, construction economist to Deputy Pirnie," as reported by "The Business Week."

"The plan is a working-out of a clear conception of the job of NRA as setting the stage for the financial and governmental push (thru the Home Loan Board, and similar agencies) to practical industrial recovery. It does not contemplate the reduction of wages at all, but keeping them at present scales or at a good-living level where anything below that now prevails. It only postpones the increase in costs for one year and holds out this bait to private capital to draw it into the construction field. The plan includes the construction materials and machinery codes as well as those of the construction industries proper. Literally, it seeks to stabilize prices for one year, then jump them radically twice, on a stairway plan that would put code-control into the price factor. It is a part of the NRA job that was certainly there in the original conceptions, but which has largely been lost sight of in the scramble of code production and labor markup.

"The plan, awaiting high approval and labor support before being incorporated into the codes, would not merely stabilize costs but have a direct effect on building. Instead of a sharp upturn which Mr. Wentzlick estimates will come in construction about 1936, but not before it should start an immediate pick-up in anticipation of the frankly promised rises in costs. It would take from the future, of course, but what is would take would be the top of the terrific spurt which Mr. Wentzlick's charts show is due through 1936-39 and which would, by its very height, be one of the contributants to the next depression, if history is allowed to repeat itself.

WESTERN PRODUCERS ASK CODE DIVISION

L. S. Page, representing Western producers of cedar poles, has appeared before the National Control Committee of the Lumber Code Authority requesting the creation of a cedar pole division and the designation of the Northern White and Western Red Cedar Associations, Consolidated, as the administrative agency under the lumber code.

The committee directed Mr. Page to submit evidence showing the representative character of his group, statistics on imports and domestic production of the product and proposals for amendments to the code. The regular procedure in such cases after approval of an application by the committee would be to submit a code amendment to the administration. This amendment would then be subjected to the usual public hearing and examination.

WOLMAN DENIES WAGE CUT STORY

Dr. Leo Wolman, chairman of the Labor Advisory Board of the NRA, today issued a statement denying in positive terms the report that he had discussed with officials of the organization or others a plan to reduce wages in the building trades 10 per cent. Dr. Wolman's statement follows:

"My attention has been called to a statement in a local newspaper, Monday, October 9th, that I have considered a plan designed to reduce all building trade wages 10 per cent and have discussed this plan with representatives of the building trades unions. I know of no such plan, nor has any such plan been brought to my attention, nor have I discussed any such plan with any of the officers of the National Recovery Administration. Needless to say, no such plan has been discussed by me with representatives of the building trades unions. If there were such a plan, I would be unalterably opposed to it as unsound in both practice and theory. The statement that I have seen such a plan and seriously considered it with anyone is absolutely untrue."

CONTRACTORS ASK LOWER LICENSE

Santa Cruz contractors have petitioned the city council for a substantial reduction in the annual municipal contractors' license fee.

It is proposed to reduce the license from $25 a year to $10 for general contractors, the same fee now paid by sub-contractors.

FEDERAL CODES WILL SUPERSEDE CRA AGREEMENTS

National Regulation Alone Governs Intrastate Industry After Acceptance

Codes promulgated under the California Industrial Recovery Act remain in effect only so long as the trade or industry involved is not governed by a code approved by the President under the National Industrial Recovery Act. Upon adoption of a federal code for any given trade or industry, the federal code automatically supersedes in all respects the state code in effect.

Such, in brief, are the high spots of an important and sweeping interpretation delivered to the California Industrial Recovery Administration by U. S. Webb, attorney general of California.

In substance, the question asked by State Administrator Daugherty of the attorney general was whether a federal code for a given industry, upon approval by the President, superseded all the provisions of any state code governing strictly intrastate business then in effect for the particular industry involved.

This ruling will serve to clarify many vital problems of administration affecting both the state and federal authorities. It also answers the question most frequently asked since the state law was passed, whether a federal code superseded a state code in its entirety.

The opinion, after reviewing the problem under consideration and quoting sections from the Supplement to the California Industrial Recovery Act, concludes as follows:

" * * * Said Statute (California Industrial Recovery Act) specifically states that in the event a code is approved under the National Industrial Recovery Act, such code 'shall supersede' any state code 'and shall immediately become the code of fair competition provided for in this act for the said trade or industry or subdivision thereof and shall be enforceable as such under the provisions hereof'.

"The words 'shall supersede' and 'immediately become the code' would seem to clearly indicate that it was intended that where a federal code was approved for an industry that code, and that code only, should govern the said industry. The purpose of those provisions was to avoid any possible conflict between state and national codes and to give the federal government full control in any case where a code is approved under the National Industrial Recovery Act."

Engineers' Code Is Submitted To NRA After Hearing October 9

The code of fair competition for the engineers' division of the construction industry, submitted to the NRA by the American Society of Civil Engineers as a supplemental code under the construction industry code, was advanced toward formal adoption by a public hearing held in Washington on October 9. Malcolm Pirnie, deputy administrator for the construction industry, presided and Alonzo J. Hammond, president of American Society of Civil Engineers, represented that organization in sponsoring the code.

"Engineering News-Record" reports the hearing as follows:

Formal presentation of the code was made by Carlton Proctor, chairman of the code committee of the American Society Civil Engineers, and amendments proposed by the code committee since the filing of the code to the PWA were outlined by him. Since filing of the code with the NRA, Mr. Proctor stated, the code has been approved by the authorized representatives of the following organizations:

American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

American Institute of Consulting Engineers.

American Association of Engineers.

American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers.

American Society of Municipal Engineers.

New York Association of Consulting Engineers.

Structural Engineers Association of California.

Chicago Structural Engineers.

New York State Society of Professional Engineers.

Oregon Technical Council.

Western Society of Engineers.

Connecticut Society of Civil Engineers.

Florida Engineering Society.

Rochester Engineering Society.

In the amendments proposed, the names of these societies were added to the preamble and the five national organizations were specified as being represented in the national control committee set up under the code.

Mr. Proctor, in presenting the amendments, stated that one of the worst effects of the present depression was shopping for engineering services and the price cutting it had brought about in engineering fees, much of which had been done at the expense of employees. He took the opportunity to put the society on record as recognizing the federal government as one of the worst offenders in seeking professional services on a competitive fee basis.

On the matter of wages Mr. Proctor said that the code committee recognized that present standards in many cases were far below actual requirements for mere living needs and that the purpose of the code would not be fulfilled until they were raised to meet the cultural living conditions requisite to professional work.

Wage rates to fulfil this requirement were not set forth in the code, Mr. Proctor said, because it had not been found practical to set any one basic group of rates that would be applicable to the whole country. This will have to be done by the regional committees provided for in the code. Even the minimums set forth are acknowledged to be far from requisite. Much the same comment, Mr. Proctor said, applied to fees for engineering services now in the code.

The code committee's proposals for minimum wages and hours were strongly opposed by J. Jay of the Federation of Architects, Engineers, Chemists & Technicians, an organization representing 3000 employees. As a first step in relieving unemployment among engineers this organization would cut the maximum hours to 30 per week with restricted provisions for emergency work. The minimum wages proposed in the code were declared to be wholly inadequate and the organization does not hold to the view that raising the pay of engineering employees to adequate rates will increase the total cost of construction sufficiently to check new undertakings.

Specifically, the association proposed that the following rates be written in the code: Senior engineers (technical school graduates with 6 years experience or 10 years of experience for non-graduates), $65 per week; junior engineers (graduates with one year experience, or men with five years practical experience), $45; assistants (graduates with no experience), $35; and apprentices $30 per week.

Arnold G. Chapman, president of the New York State Society of Professional Engineers, proposed modifications in the definition of the functions of an engineer, to broaden it and make it more like the definition in the New York State law. On the subject of wage rates, Mr. Chapman proposed $30 a week for engineering assistants rendering the lowest grade of service, to be applicable during the four-month interim in which regional rates are being established under the code.

Article IV of the code should be altered to require the engineer to enter into a contract for all work, eliminating the $1000 fee minimum now in the code, according to Frank Dougherty, representing the Association of Professional Engineers (Philadelphia), a new organization. Also, Mr. Dougherty said the code should require that engineers supervise all work executed under their contract.

At the close of the hearing Mr. Pirnie stated that the construction industry, in the preparation of its codes, should take cognizance of the fact that increasing costs out of line with income to be expected from new construction will result in postponing new projects until another boom period is upon us; that as a consequence every effort should be made to keep construction costs down in order to stimulate new construction and so "borrow work from a future boom period" to help carry the industry through the present depression.

Following the hearing, at the suggestion of Administrator Pirnie, representatives of the code committee of the American Society of Civil Engineers sat down with the representatives of the Federation of Architects, Engineers, Chemists & Technicians to determine whether minimum rates and maximum hours of work more acceptable to the employees could be written into the code. The outcome of the discussion was that the employees representatives will endeavor to draw up new classifications for the first three of its four groups, those who may be classed as engineers or as engineering assistants under the code, classifying them by functions rather than experience, and outlining wage rates for each class in the major regions of the country. On the matter of hours, the code committee was unwilling to cut the maximum below 35 hours but agreed to revise the limitations for emergency work to keep the 48-hour provision from being abused.

September shipments of electric industrial trucks and tractors, as reported to the Bureau of the Census by ten leading manufacturers, totaled 51, compared with 52 in August, 16 in September, 1932, and 43 in September.

PWA To Require Contract Bids On All Federally Financed Projects

Local agencies receiving Federal Public Works funds will be required to call competitive bids and do all work by contract except in unusual instances, the PWA has ruled. Confirmation of the administration's attitude toward the contract method of public works is contained in the letter from E. W. Clark, executive assistant to Administrator Harold L. Ickes, written to Floyd O. Booe, secretary-manager of the Associated General Contractors, Northern California Chapter. The letter follows:

"I wish to thank you for the commendatory remarks contained in your letter of October 7 with reference to the letting of contracts to the lowest responsible bidder.

"Although in certain instances municipalities may be permitted to carry out their own construction work without the letting of contracts, it is not encouraged by this Administration. The adoption of the force account system complicates exceedingly our procedure, and we will consider such applications only on very special cases.

"In any event, it would be necessary to use labor supplied by the office of the National Reemployment Service set up especially for this purpose in order that the various preferences for veterans with dependents, etc., may be checked. Minimum wage rates set by the Public Works Administration would of course, have to be paid.

"I would be glad to receive your further comments at any time, and hope that you continue to give us your moral support and actual cooperation in this tremendous task."

Mr. Booe's letter to the administrator follows:

"May we commend your administration for the very definite requirement contained in Bulletin No. 2 for the guidance of State Advisory Boards and State Engineers (PWA) to this effect:

"The National Industrial Recovery Act and the rules and regulations approved by the Special Board for Public Works contemplate that bids will be received and contracts will be let to the lowest responsible bidder in carrying out improvements under the Act. Any deviation from this practice must have the prior approval of the Administrator."

"This we believe is one requirement which will tend to secure efficient expenditure of public works funds under your Administration.

"Experience has invariably shown that the expenditure of public funds through what is known as the "day labor" or "force account" system is very inefficient and wasteful as compared with that of guaranteed performance on receipt of competitive bids and carried out under strict contract and specifications and proper inspection. We, therefore, feel that in issuing definite orders along this line you are carrying out a program that will more fully safeguard the public interest and the investment of public funds that are made in every project."

BRIDGE PAYROLLS SUPPORTING 4000

Nearly 4,000 men, women and children are now deriving support from the direct labor in the construction of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, according to Harrison S. Robinson, Chairman of the Financial Advisory Committee on the transbay bridge project.

Inquiry into the employment on the bridge was made by Chief Engineer C. H. Purcell at the request of Robinson.

This inquiry revealed that 1331 men were employed on the bridge during the month of September.

Of this number 490 are war veterans.

These 1331 men have a total of 2303 dependents.

All but a negligible number of bridge specialists with experience on other large bridges are registered voters of the San Francisco Bay Region.

ASK BIDS ON CONSTRUCTION OF CAUSEWAY

Proposals To Be Opened December 12 For $980,000 Structure at Mare Island

A call for bids on construction of the new causeway to connect Mare Island and Vallejo was issued yesterday by Capt. Ralph Whitman, Public Works Officer at Mare Island. The Public Works Administration recently approved an appropriation of $980,000 for the construction for which plans have been ready for some time.

The contract will include the causeway of steel and reinforced concrete construction, a bascule bridge and appurtenances, track and electrification for street railway, signal equipment, Mare Island gate house and approaches.

Bids are to be received at Mare Island at 11 A. M., December 12. The work will be under a PWA contract with minimum wages set at $1.10 an hour for skilled labor and 45 cents an hour for unskilled.

Specifications No. 7448 are obtainable at the office of Commandant, Mare Island, on deposit of $25.

ALLEN IN CHARGE OF NEVADA PWA

Separation of the Federal Public Works Administration into two units for the states of Nevada and Utah has been approved, according to dispatches from Washington. The work to date has been supervised by R. A. Hart, Salt Lake City, assisted by R. A. Allen in Reno. In the future, according to advices to Allen, he will be in full charge of the state of Nevada administration and Hart will remain as supervising engineer in Utah only.

$3,000,000 WORK UNDERWAY IN IDAHO

Fifty-two highway projects of various descriptions are now in progress in Idaho, all but three having been started since July 1, according to J. H. Stemmer, director of highways. The contracts involve about $3,000,000.

GATE BRIDGE WORK ENTERS HAZARDOUS PART

Elaborate Precautions For Safety of Caisson Workers Completed

With work commencing this week on the actual erection of the south pier of the Golden Gate Bridge, officials of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District are giving first consideration to the safety of underwater workers, a large number of whom will be employed until completion of the pier.

The following description of the work is provided by the district news bureau:

"This part of the construction program is regarded by engineers as one of the most difficult in the entire project. It involves the use of both divers and caisson workers, who will be required to work under air pressure.

"The south pier, located 1100 feet off shore opposite Fort Winfield Scott, is being built in approximately 65 feet of water with its base set in a rock excavation which has been carried to a point 95 feet below mean high water level.

"Construction of the pier involves the completion first of the fender wall, which will facilitate operations on the caisson and ultimately will serve as a permanent fender to guard the finished pier against possible impacts from passing vessels.

"The work starting now involves the placing at the end of the temporary trestle, now extending to the edge of the pier excavation of a steel guide tower from which the first of 22 structural steel sections, that will constitute the fender, is to be lowered.

"From the first the building of the fender will necessitate the use of divers and later when this is completed and the caisson floated into place, crews of caisson workers, known among construction men as "sand hogs," will be required.

"In the employment of men of both these classes the first thing that must be considered is their physical condition and the Pacific Bridge Company, pier contractors, has employed a physician under whose direction every underwater worker must be subjected to a rigid examination.

"Hospital locks have been provided and in those men who never before have worked under air pressure will be subjected to the high-

MOTT APPOINTED VALUATION EXPERT

A. G. Mott, chief engineer for the California Railroad Commission, has been appointed by the state board of equalization to supervise the valuation of public utility property which, in 1935 will be restored to local assessment rolls for city and county taxation.

The appointment becomes effective November 1 and Mott will head a new valuation unit in the office. Commenting on the appointment, R. E. Collins, chairman of the board, states:

Mott has shown an unusual grasp of tax problems as they relate to valuation procedure. He has made studies in other states. The board of equalization availed itself of his services in 1932 in utility valuation work of the tax research bureau. We feel the state is fortunate in having his full-time service now on this work.

est pressure under which they will be called upon to work and kept under observation to ascertain their suitability for such work.

"The Pacific Bridge Company has provided a complete, modern plant for the use of underwater workers. This plant is provided with showers and change rooms and the men will be furnished with hot coffee, a liberal use of which is one of the requirements for men working under high air pressure.

"Another safety provision is a hospital lock of the latest design, in which men stricken with the "bends," or caisson disease, will be given expert medical attention.

"It is pointed out by Chief Engineer Joseph B. Strauss that with proper care there is slight danger of a fatality when an underwater worker is attacked with the "bends."

"At the earliest possible moment after the sufferer has been brought to the surface he is placed in the hospital lock and put under air pressure equivalent to that under which he has been working, the doctor in charge observing him carefully throughout the procedure and gradually lowering the air pressure as the attack subsides.

"In severe cases a pressure considerably higher than the working pressure is applied, and if the attack persists after decompression the patient is again subjected to pressure.

"With every modern safeguard provided it is anticipated that construction of the pier and fender, which will be pushed to completion with all possible speed, may be accomplished with no fatalities and a new record in bridge construction established."

PUSH CAMPAIGN FOR CONSTRUCTION DURING WINTER

General Contractors Will Urge Public Works in Off Season

Elimination of the traditional winter lag in both private and public construction, so that employment upon the $3,300,000,000 national construction program will not be interrupted but steadily gain impetus, will constitute one of the major objectives of the Fall meeting of the governing and advisory boards of the Associated General Contractors of America, to be held November 13 and 14, at the Willard Hotel, Washington, D. C.

Urgent representations are expected to be made to the Public Works Administration advocating the launching of construction projects at an accelerated speed regardless of the seasonal tradition and pointing out the tragic and unnecessary waste of man power and wage earning resulting from seasonal operations, Edward J. Harding, managing director of the association, states.

"Investigations by the industry and by the Government itself, have shown that the winter lag in construction is almost wholly a matter of tradition," Harding said. "With the national unemployment situation still unrelieved to any appreciable extent and with the certainty of more acute suffering as winter approaches, there can be no justification for holding back until Spring the great majority of the projects contemplated."

Leaders in the industry believe, he said, that the Government can perform a valuable service by demonstrating upon a large scale that most types of construction can be economically launched at any season of the year, thereby eliminating the drastic seasonal fluctuations in employment that are typical of the industry even in normal times.

Harding pointed out that although approximately 50 percent of the $3,300,000,000 public works fund has been specifically allotted to date, less than $100,000,000 actually has been withdrawn from the Treasury and put into circulation. Unless an intensive effort is made to encourage construction throughout the winter, he said, the greater portion of the allotted funds for employment will remain in the Treasury until Spring.

NEW FEDERAL PURCHASING BUREAU OPENS

L. W. Robert, Jr., Expected to Head Central Procurement Division

The new procurement division of The Treasury, which, under the President's reorganization order of June 10, is intended to eventually centralize all of the purchasing, warehousing, and distributing functions of the entire Federal Government, came into being on October 16, says an article in the "Government Advertiser." The article continues:

"While no official announcement is yet forthcoming as to who will be appointed director of procurement, it appears to be an open secret that Mr. L. W. Robert, Jr., assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of the Public Health Service, supervising architect's office, division of supply, and the general supply committee, will be designated for this important position. It is expected that Mr. Robert will have an assistant for public works and one for supply. It is not the intention of the procurement division at this time to take over from any of the various departments actual purchasing functions, with the exception of the general supply committee and the supervising architect's office.

"The general supply committee has been abolished and its duties transferred to the new procurement division. The supervising architect's office, which has charge of the federal public building program, also has been absorbed, as have the activities specifically mentioned in the President's reorganization order. This embraces the fuel yards of the bureau of mines and the functions of the federal coordinating service, including the area coordinators, federal real estate board, federal specifications board, federal standard stock catalogue board, federal traffic board, and inter-departmental board of contracts and adjustments.

S. F. Adopts NRA Wage Scales For Municipal Public Works

"The President's order gives the director of procurement unlimited authority to determine the policy and methods of procurement, warehousing, and distribution of property, facilities, structures, improvements, stores, and supplies exercised by any Government agency and may undertake the performance of all of these duties or intrust them in whole or part to any other agency as he may deem desirable in the interest of economy and efficiency. It is authoritatively stated that it is not the intention of the procurement division to arbitrarily assume the purchasing activities now so ably performed by the purchasing officials of the other departments, but to make a thorough and scientific study of all of the complicated intricacies and ramifications of federal purchasing and when this knowledge is acquired to use it in the interest of efficiency and economy with the least possible disruption to the Government's present gigantic procurement set-up.

"It is noted that the Treasury's own purchasing office, the division of supply, is placed in the same category as those of the other departments and independent establishments and will not be disturbed pending the study above referred to. Consolidation of purchases where feasible is to be brought about gradually, and, while it is realized that the procurement division will eventually make purchases of considerable magnitude, especially for the federal departments in Washington, and will exercise control of Government purchasing policy, standardization, specifications, and forms, it is assumed that articles and supplies of a technical nature will continue to be bought as at present.

"It is sincerely to be hoped that whenever and however the 'new deal' in procurement begins another time will be permitted between the date of issuance of proposals and the time for opening of bids to permit the widest competition from all sections of the country."

San Francisco city and county public work will be done under wage scales complying with the provisions of the National Industrial Recovery Act and the California State Recovery Act, according to the terms of an ordinance adopted Monday by the board of supervisors.

Following is the text of the new regulation which is an amendment to the prevailing wage ordinance:

Section 15. (a) That notwithstanding hereafter any condition or provision contained in this ordinance, or in any other ordinance of the City and County of San Francisco, all contracts entered into by the City and County of San Francisco, or by any department, officer, board or commission, for and on behalf of said City and County, for the construction of any public improvement, or for the performance of any public work, shall contain a provision to the effect that all work to be performed under said contract and the compensation to be paid to persons employed in the performance of labor under said contract, and the hours during each day during which said labor shall be performed or services shall be rendered, shall be subject to the provisions of any code adopted or enacted under the authority of the National Industrial Recovery Act or the California Industrial Recovery Act, or any act supplemental thereto, or whichever of said acts shall prevail one over the other. Provided, however, that in all cases where the maximum prevailing rate of wage or hours of labor for persons performing labor or rendering services on said contract as heretofore or hereafter fixed by ordinance or resolution of the Board of Supervisors shall be higher than the rate of wages fixed or provided by any code adopted under authority of the National Industrial Recovery Act or the California Industrial Recovery Act, or any act supplemental thereto, then in that event, the said general prevailing rate of wage as fixed by said Board of Supervisors shall prevail over any rate of wage fixed by any code so adopted.

(b) That any and all penalties heretofore fixed by ordinance or resolution of the Board of Supervisors for the violation of resolution providing for the payment of the highest general prevailing rate of wage for persons performing labor or rendering service under any contract hereafter entered into shall apply to the violation of any provisions of this ordinance.

ICKES URGES DEPARTMENTS TO SPEED BIDS

Special Order Reduces Time For Advertising Contracts On Federal Work

Public Works Administrator Harold L. Ickes and the special board of public works has called upon the various federal departments of the government to reduce the time for the advertising of bids on public works projects in order to expedite construction and speed men back to work.

Counsel advised the administrator and the board that the period of time for such advertising is at the discretion of the department which has jurisdiction of the work. Copies of the following resolution were sent to all federal departments and independent government establishments:

"Whereas the administrator and the special board for public works desire to expedite as much as possible the placing under contract of federal projects financed through the public works funds, and

"Whereas considerable delay may occur due to the period of time between the original advertising for bids and the date bids are received, and

"Whereas the period of time for such advertising is not designated by statute, but is at the discretion of the department under whose jurisdiction the particular work is done:

"Resolved, That the administrator and the special board for public works request the various departments to reduce the period of time referred to above to a limit consistent with good practice and which will at the same time assure sufficient time for the preparation of intelligent bids."

COMMISSIONER BANS SECTIONAL STATE CODES

Change of Policy on Price-Fixing Features is Forecast

The California State Corporation Commission gave notice yesterday that it would receive no more sectional codes under the California Recovery Act. All codes filed in the future must be for state-wide government of their respective industry, the commission announced.

According to Thomas J. Kelley, deputy commissioner, this ruling is based on the opinion given two weeks ago by Attorney-General U. S. Webb that national codes would supersede state codes and state codes would supersede county or sectional codes.

Plans are being considered for a possible division of the state into north and south districts for code administration, but no definite policy has been determined by the commission.

Dissatisfaction with the sectional codes has been forecast by earlier bulletins of the commission. The new ruling makes a definite change in the commission's policy of administering state codes. A further change of policy may be in the field of price fixing, it has been indicated, it being the intention of the department to avoid any conflict with NRA in this direction.

PERMIT TOTALS FOR OCTOBER IN S. F. $474,035

Private building operations continued during October at about the same pace set in September, according to the monthly report of the San Francisco department of public works issued last night.

The total for the month is $474,035 with 439 permits issued. This compared with a total of $566,883 and 430 permits in September and with $614,619 and 426 permits in October, 1932.

The lower total for the past month is accounted for in both comparisons principally by a smaller proportion of public building. In October the public work amounted to $26,219, compared with $75,000 in September and $121,577 in the corresponding month of 1932.

A slight decline in residential building is indicated by a total of $202,776 for the past month, compared with $234,427 in September and $271,693 in October, 1932.

All other classifications are approximately the same for all three months.

The comparative totals for October and the corresponding month a year ago follow:

A	2	$ 40,000	1	$ 800
B	1	1,200	7	5,000
C	4	25,500	7	35,313

STEEL WORK ON ANCHORAGES IS COMPLETE

Work on South Pier Fender
Progressing Despite Heavy Weather

Rapid progress on the various units of the Golden Gate Bridge under construction was indicated Monday in the report of Chief Engineer Joseph B. Strauss.

Erection of steel eye bars and girders at the San Francisco anchorage was completed Sunday, according to the report, and the eye bars will now be aligned, preparatory to being embedded in concrete.

This finishes the erection of the anchorage steel, the eye bars and girders on the Marin side, which were completed more than two weeks ago, now being partially embedded in concrete.

The total amount of anchorage steel in place on both sides, according to Chief Engineer Strauss, is 6,360,000 pounds. Concrete yardage poured to date on the various units is as follows:

Marin anchorage, 28,183 cubic yards; Marin pylon N-1, 3,996 cubic yards; Marin pier, 22,985 cubic yards; San Francisco pylon S-1, 3,595 cubic yards; San Francisco anchorage, 27,840 cubic yards; total concrete already poured on the entire job, 86,599 cubic yards.

Strauss reported that 63,276,406 pounds of steel for the San Francisco and Marin towers have been rolled to date in the eastern steel mills and that 35,408,900 pounds of steel are in process of fabrication in the East.

COULEE BRIDGE SKETCHES READY

Preliminary sketches for the bridge that is to span the Columbia just below the line of the Grand Coulee dam have been completed by O. R. Elwell, engineer in the state highway department, and submitted to Frank A. Banks, federal reclamation bureau engineer in charge at the damsite.

Four alternative plans have been sketched: one for a cantilever high bridge and one for a cantilever low bridge, a third for a suspension high bridge and a fourth for a suspension low bridge.

It is hoped to have specifications ready in time to call for bids on excavating for the bridge abutments by November 20, the date tentatively set for opening bids on excavating the first 2,250,000 cubic yards of surface material for the abutments of the dam itself.

SUSPEND LICENSE OF CONTRACTOR

Charged with the diversion of funds allegedly due a subcontractor, state contractor's license of Oscar Chappell, Lakeside, Lake Tahoe has been suspended for 90 days by Glen V. Slater, assistant registrar of contractors.

Chappell, according to evidence introduced in a formal hearing at Sacramento, retained Fred Brenzel, Bijou, Lake Tahoe, to install the plumbing fixtures in a Lake Tahoe home, and allegedly failed to pay Brenzel, after accepting payment from the owner of the property.

Suspension of Chappell's license for a period of 90 days, and until adequate restitution is made, was approved by Col. Carlos W. Huntington, registrar of contractors and director of professional and vocational standards in Gov. Rolph's cabinet.

ORDER DENYING TWO LICENSES IS SUSTAINED

Two Sacramento contractors, who failed to carry compensation insurance to protect their workmen, today had lost their second attempt to obtain a state contractor's license, according to Glen V. Slater, assistant registrar of contractors.

They are Walter P. James and J. P. Spencer.

Although Col. Carlos W. Huntington, registrar of contractors and member of Governor Rolph's cabinet, had previously refused to issue state licenses to James and Spencer, they were granted formal hearings on their applications.

The hearings, which resulted in their appeals being rejected, were Bowdle, referee, and the decision was approved by Registrar Huntington.

In refusing their original petitions, Huntington asserted that failure of contractors to carry compensation insurance was a violation of the spirit of the National Recovery Act, as well as state law.

"The law specifically provides that all licensed contractors must protect their workers with compensation insurance. Failure to do so is an evasion of the spirit of the recovery act, inasmuch as it would enable a contractor to underbid and take unfair advantage of his fellow contractors who adhere to law and carry compensation insurance," said Huntington.

"It is also manifestly unfair to their workmen."

PRICES GAIN 1.75 PERCENT IN SEPTEMBER

Most Items in Group Advance
From August
Level

Building material prices increased an average of 1¾ percent during the month of September, according to the monthly review of the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The average prices of brick and tile, cement, lumber, structural steel, and other building materials moved upward, while paint and paint materials, decreased slightly.

Metals and metal products as a whole continued upward in September due to advancing prices of agricultural implements, iron and steel, non ferrous metals and plumbing and heating fixtures. The index for the group was over 1 percent higher than for the month before.

The rise in the general level of wholesale commodity prices which began in March of this year continued unbroken during the month of September, according to the Bureau. The index number for the month showed an advance of nearly 2 percent. This index which includes 784 commodities or price series weighted according to their relative importance in the markets and based on the average prices for the year 1926 as 100.0, rose from 69.5 for August to 70.8 for September.

The index for September averaged above 70 for the first time since November 1931, and is higher than for any month since October 1931, when the index was 70.3. As compared with September 1932, with an index number of 65.3, the present index shows an increase of nearly 8½ percent over that of one year ago. As compared with the low point reached in February of the present year, when the index was 59.8, September prices were more than 18 percent higher. The corresponding index for March was 60.2.

Following is a comparison of building material prices for corresponding months:

	Sept. 1932	Sept. 1933
Building materials	70.5	82.7

$500,000 PWA FUNDS SPENT DAILY IN WEST

Tabulation of Seven States Awards Shows $23,500,000 Contracted

Construction contracts are being awarded at the rate of $500,000 a day by State and Federal agencies in the area bounded by the seven westernmost states as the record-breaking campaign for re-employment on public works goes forward.

In the seven weeks between September 14 and October 31, contracts totaling more than $23,250,000 were awarded by public works authorities in California, Arizona, Nevada, Utah, Idaho, Oregon and Washington. Almost all of this construction is financed by allotments from the $3,300,000,000 fund of the Federal Public Works Administration to Federal departments or in direct grants to states for highway improvement.

A tabulation by states shows the following highway award totals between Sept. 14 and Nov. 1:

STATE HIGHWAY WORK
Arizona	$1,822,088
California	7,445,082
Idaho	626,015
Nevada	767,014
Oregon	1,793,901
Utah	203,695
Washington	753,415
Total	$13,411,220

In the same states highway work had been started under awards from the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads on various Federal projects as follows:

BUREAU OF PUBLIC ROADS
Arizona	$ 970,859
California	610,419
Idaho	602,819
Oregon	643,536
Utah	484,268
Washington	322,844
Total	$3,634,745

War and Navy Departments have awarded contracts totaling $6,107,323 in the past six weeks, including a total of $4,419,371 for rivers and harbors work on projects located at Los Angeles, Richmond, Monterey and various points in the Sacramento, San Joaquin and Columbia rivers.

The balance of the war and navy department expenditures have been for improvements at various posts and bases in California and Washington, including March Field, Hamilton Field (Marin Co.), Fort Lewis and Puget Sound, Mare Island and San Diego navy yards.

The California State Highway Commission is leading all other agencies in placing work under contract, with a total exceeding $7,500,000 awarded prior to November 1. The commission has announced its program will place $20,000,000 under contract before January 1, with a goal of employing 50,000 men.

KELLY ASKS RULING ON CRA BIDDING

Department of Public Works
To Get Opinion From
Attorney General

Whether contractors who fail to comply with the state and national codes of fair competition are disqualified for state highway work is a question which Earl Lee Kelly, state director of public works, has put before Attorney General U. S. Webb.

After a conference with C. C. Carleton, the attorney for the department, Kelly states the point at stake is whether failure to comply with these codes constitutes irresponsibility under the law.

The division of highways now is required to award the contracts to the lowest responsible bidders. If non-conformance is to be considered irresponsibility in the meaning of the law, these contractors will be eliminated for future contracts.

"The federal government has the same problem in regard to federal projects," says Carleton, "and is as yet uncertain as to these contractors' standing."

Kelly states:

There appears to be a conflict in the statutes governing the situation. One requires us to give the contract to the lowest responsible bidder, while the state recovery acts require conformance with the industrial codes by contractors doing state work. The question arises as to which is paramount.

The crisis was precipitated by a San Luis Obispo county road contract in which the low bidder uses estimates less than the state code minimums for rental of trucking and excavating equipment, it is reported.

"Conformance to such minimums conceivably may result in all bids being the same," Kelly said. "The department does not wish to be placed in the position of having to pick the successful bidders. Letting the contracts to the lowest responsible bidder seems to be the fairest method of handling public contracts."

CONTRACT ON BOULDER CANAL IS ADVERTISED

Government Calls Bids on Three Important Construction Projects

Calls for bids were issued yesterday on three major government construction projects in the states of Arizona, Oregon and Washington.

The initial contract on the All-American canal, involving more than 4,500,000 cubic yards of excavation was advertised by the Bureau of Reclamation for bids to be opened December 4. They will be received at the Yuma, Ariz., office of the bureau. The work to be done is located from 6 to 8 miles west of Yuma.

From Spokane, Wash., the bureau issued a call for bids on the excavation of overburden at the Grand Coulee dam site, located about 20 miles northwest of Almira Washington. The contract calls for excavation of 2,040,000 cubic yards and 1,000,000 station yards overhaul. The Federal Public Works Administration recently allotted $1,000,000 for the work. Bids will be received November 20.

At Portland, Ore., the U. S. District Engineer, War Department, called for bids to be opened on November 13, on construction of half a mile of road to the site of the locks at Bonneville Dam. This work is preliminary to calling for bids on the construction of the locks, which will be advertised shortly. A contract for preliminary excavation at the Bonneville dam site was awarded last week to the General Construction Co., Seattle, on a bid of $668,500.

A complete description of each of these three contracts appears in today's Advance Report Section.

APPOINT ENGINEERS FOR BONNEVILLE DAM

D. C. Henry of Portland, and L. F. Harza of Chicago, have been placed on the staff of engineering experts engaged in work on the Bonneville dam project, C. I. Grimm chief civilian engineer, announced.

Both engineers are familiar with the work having been engaged to make preliminary surveys prior to the time that the project was approved by the administration.

Chicago Firms Low Bidders On S. F. Building

Great Lakes Construction Co.
On Contract

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—Low bid on the general contract for the San Francisco Federal Office Building was submitted by Great Lakes Construction Company, 333 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, at $2,647,800. Bids were received by the Supervising Architect, Treasury Department, this afternoon. Seven contractors submitted bids.

The Great Lakes Company was low bidder on both proposals for the general contract, bidding $2,566,800 on the second proposition, which omits an attic on the McAllister street front.

Complete bids on both proposals follow:

(A) Great Lakes Const. Co., (I) $2,647,800; (II) $2,566,800.

(B) Jacobsen Bros., (I) $2,793,000; (II) $2,700,000.

(C) Lindgren & Swinerton, (I) $2,857,000; (II) $2,771,000.

(D) George Wagner and K. E. Parker, (I) $2,870,922; (II) $2,780,550.

(E) Clinton Const. Co., (I) $2,918,000; (II) $2,832,000.

(F) Ring Const. Co. & Fleisher Engr. & Const. Co., (I) $2,957,000; (II) $2,867,000.

(G) MacDonald & Kahn (I) $2,959,000; (II) $2,843,400.

Bids were first received for the building on Feb. 28, 1933. Award was delayed, however, and all low bidders finally declined to accept the contract. The original low bid was offered by the N. P. Severin Company, Chicago, at $2,548,000, and Great Lakes Const. Co. was second low bidder at $2,597,952.

The plans were later revised in order to bring the project within an appropriation of $2,689,000 by the Public Works Administration. The general contract on which bids were received yesterday provides for a five-story reinforced concrete building with basement and attic, exclusive of elevator plant and lighting fixtures. Excavation was completed several months ago under a separate contract.

Plans were prepared by Architect Arthur Brown, Jr., C. H. Snyder, structural engineer and Leland & Haley, mechanical engineer.

EARLY START ON MUNICIPAL WORK PROMISED

Voters Approve $20,486,000
Bonds for S. F.
Construction

An early start on many construction projects to be financed by the $20,486,000 in bond issues approved by the voters of San Francisco at Tuesday's election was promised yesterday by municipal authorities.

Much of the preliminary engineering was done in order to perfect the city's applications for Federal Public Works grants which will finance about 30 percent of the total cost. Yesterday work was being continued to complete plans for all of the construction that can be undertaken immediately.

The following bond issues were approved:

Water System Extensions	$12,095,000
Raising O'Shaughnessy Dam 85.5 ft.....	3,500,000
Sewer Reconstruction	2,625,000
High Pressure System Extension	2,000,000
Municipal Airport Im- provement	260,000

The water department program is estimated to employ 2100 men over a period of two years. Work is ready to start as soon as bonds can be sold, in about a month. Raising O'Shaughnessy Dam will employ 700 men for 18 months, with work ready to start within 60 days. The airport runway, employing 143 men for a year, is also ready to be started as soon as the bonds are sold.

The $2,625,000 program of sewer replacements and improvements, including two sewage treatment plants to eliminate pollution of bay waters, employing 325 men for two years, probably will not get under way for between three and four months.

Rights of way must be obtained in many cases and changes in street grades in connection with altering the new sewers involve more delay than is anticipated in the case of the other projects.

The $2,000,000 high pressure main extension program is completely planned, the locations having long ago been decided by the Fire Department, including those of the chain of cisterns along Van Ness Ave. Work on this project is estimated to start in well under sixty

PWA HOUSING CORPORATION IS ORGANIZED

New Authority Empowered to Engage in Low-Cost Residential Developments

Formation of the Public Works Emergency Housing Corporation, incorporated in Delaware, as an adjunct to the Public Works Administration, has been announced. All of the stock will be owned by or held for the United States Government and the corporation will be an executive arm of the PWA.

The incorporators are Administrator Ickes, Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins and Robt. D. Kohn director of the housing division of the public works administration.

The purposes of the corporation, as set forth in the certificate of incorporation, are "to construct, reconstruct, alteration and repair of, low-cost housing projects or slum-clearance projects, apartments, houses, homes, and structures of every nature and kind."

Under the provisions of the national recovery act, this corporation, as an agency of the P. W. A. has power to acquire by purchase or by the exercise of the power of eminent domain any property necessary in connection with the projects undertaken by it subject to the approval of the administration.

The corporation will engage in low-cost housing and slum-clearance projects which otherwise would not be undertaken. It will lend every assistance to states, municipalities and public housing authorities in the development of worthy projects and it may finance projects outright as a demonstration to the country of what can be done.

While the corporation will be empowered to do anything that a private contractor or builder can do, the policy of the public works administration, as repeatedly stated by Administrator Ickes, is not to interfere with or enter into competition against legitimate private businesses, but supplement and stimulate these businesses in a field of vital social importance.

The corporation is set up under days. The following bond proposals were defeated:

Red Mountain Power Plant and S. F. Distribut- ing System.....	$6,308,000
Yacht Harbor	815,000

35-HOUR WEEK IS ASKED IN STATE CODE

Minimum Wage Proposals
Stricken From Agreement
Offered by League

Public hearing of the proposed basic code for the state construction industry in San Francisco Monday indicated that an agreement of various interests in the industry and the allied professions would be reached at an early date. The code offered is one sponsored by the Construction League of California.

The hearing yesterday is to be followed by hearings in the near future at Los Angeles and Sacramento, Deputy Commissioner A. Michel announced.

Prior to the hearing of the code yesterday the sponsors offered amendments to the original proposal eliminating minimum wage provisions from the basic code and changing the recommended work week from 40 hours to 35 hours. Labor organizations declared at the hearing, however, that they would insist upon adoption of the six-hour day, five-day week. Representatives of employers' associations and labor groups are to hold a conference this week in an effort to reach a compromise agreement to be reported to the commissioner on Thursday.

Code control and administration provisions also are to be re-written in conformity with the new standard regulations for these sections of all state codes which were issued yesterday by the Corporation Commission.

the national recovery act as a means of facilitating the housing and slum-clearance program as planned by the housing division of the public works administration.

The corporation has broad powers to engage in a general construction business, to finance and aid in financing low-cost housing and slum-clearance, to perform engineering and architectural work, and to conduct and carry on the business of builders and contractors.

In addition to buildings, the corporation has power to locate, lay out, construct, and maintain roads, avenues, parks, playgrounds, recreational facilities, sewers, bridges, walls, utilities, and incidental improvements in connection with housing projects.

The corporation may equip, furnish, operate, manage, and maintain homes and buildings of every nature.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 7.—Bids are to be received November 29 on five highway construction contracts, three of them in the northern section of the state, one in Kern county and one in Los Angeles county.

Bureau of Contract Information Urges Bidders to File Statements

The Bureau of Contract Information, Inc., Washington, D. C., has sent the following memorandum to contracting concerns bidding on public works and to state engineers and regional inspectors for the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works:

The importance of information, including the performance of construction contracts, status of contracts on hand, and financial statements filed with the Bureau can only be measured in value, to the concern filing the information, by its completeness at the time of its disclosure to those who are legitimately entitled to it by reason of the award of construction contracts the writing of surety bonds, or the extension of credit.

The disclosure of a record that is not up-to-date is not fair to the concern itself. It may indicate to those above mentioned, a lack of consideration by the concern of the importance of rendering a report that should reflect its true condition at the time of rendering it. Therefore, the Bureau is desirous of being in a position to fully cooperate in the interest of all responsible contracting concerns.

In a report recently prepared for the benefit of, and distributed to, all who will be responsible for the award of construction contracts under the Public Works Program the following appears:

"The Bureau has established a nation-wide interchange of information between those awarding public and private construction contracts, those writing surety bonds, financial institutions, and all interests extending credit to the industry. Through this interchange of information, the Bureau has received the following:

"FIRST: Fifteen hundred and thirty-nine (1539) individual reports showing defaults, bankruptcies, complaints regarding non-payment of bills for labor and materials, suits filed and general unfavorable information on seven hundred and twenty-six (726) individual contracting concerns throughout the United States.

"These notices disclosed eight hundred and twenty-two (822) defaults on individual construction contracts, composed of three hundred and thirty-seven (337) in building construction and four hundred and eighty-five (485) in engineering construction.

"SECOND: Eighty-three per cent (83%) of the total concerns on whom unfavorable information was reported were contracting concerns who had failed to, voluntarily or upon request, file their Performance Records with the Bureau.

"THIRD: More than seventy-eight per cent (78%) of all defaults during 1931 and 1932, on construction contracts for building and engineering construction by the federal government and on highway construction by all of the state highway departments throughout the United States, were by contractors who had failed to file their Performance Records with the Bureau.

"FOURTH: From the organization of the Bureau late in 1929 to the end of 1932, seven hundred and sixty-nine (769) individual construction projects were awarded to other than low bidders through the determination and disclosure of lack of qualification, including irresponsibility, by the Bureau to those responsible for the award of contracts.

"The above emphasizes the importance of thoroughly checking the qualifications, including responsibility, of all contracting concerns bidding on construction work, and in this the services of the Bureau are available."

It is unnecessary to say that the disclosure of the above figures to those who will be responsible for the award of construction contracts has impressed upon them the necessity for greater consideration of the qualifications of contractors, and especially those who fail to file their records with the Bureau.

National Building Wage Chart Completed by Chicago Association

The 1933 national wage chart, as published annually by E. M. Craig, Secretary of the Builders' Association of Chicago, and which shows hourly wages paid to all types of building mechanics in 125 principal cities of the United States and Canada, is now off the press.

Comparisons of several of the larger cities follow:

BALTIMORE: Most building trades' wages have been adjusted 10 to 25 per cent under the 1932 figure.

BOSTON: Asbestos workers reduced from $1.50 to $1.25; electrical workers, $1.50 to $1.25; plasterers, $1.62½ to $1.37½; roofers, $1.37½ to $1.17½.

CHICAGO: Bricklayers and fire-proof bricklayers were advanced from $1.37½ to $1.50. Painters' rate on new work remains at $1.42, but a differential rate of one dollar an hour is in effect for old work.

CINCINNATI: Bricklayers reduced from $1.37½ to $1.25.

DETROIT: Asbestos workers reduced from $1.25 to 90 cents; electrical workers $1.40 to $1.00. Most trades working open shop.

LOS ANGELES: Bricklayers $1 in 1933 and 87½ cents in 1932. In many trades 1933 wages are higher than 1932 rates.

NEW YORK: Electrical workers current rate is $1.40 as against $1.65 in 1932 common laborers 82½ cents as against 93¼ cents.

PITTSBURGH: No change from 1932.

Elizabeth, N. J. Apparently are paying the highest building rates. Hoisting engineers are listed at $2.25 an hour; iron workers at $2 and bricklayers, cement finishers, marble setters and plasterers at $1.68¾. Same wage in effect in 1932.

Richmond, Va., are perhaps paying the lowest scale. With the exception of the bricklayers and marble-setters who are granted more than one dollar an hour, all other trades are receiving between 40 cents and one dollar. Fearful that the N. R. A. will reduce building trades rates after the adoption of a national code, several cities refuse to be quoted. Due to chaotic building conditions, lower rates than the established ones given are being paid in any number of cities, Craig reports.

Copies of the wage chart are obtainable by addressing the Builders' Association of Chicago, Builders' Building, Chicago.

IMPERIAL COUNTY, Calif.—Commissioner Elwood Mead, Bureau of Reclamation, has announced that the department expects to have plans for the All-American Canal ready so that bids may be advertised prior to Dec. 1. The first section to be built under the $6,000,000 federal allotment will be a total of 20 miles, about 15 miles to be built between the site of the proposed diversion dam, 18 miles up the Colorado river from Yuma and Pilot Knob and 5 miles from that point toward the Imperial Valley. Work on this section will probably be under way by January 1. Construction of the diversion dam, six miles above Laguna reservoir, will be started in about one year. This phase of the project will be delayed until Hoover Dam has reached a height of about 350 ft., which will permit storing of water and simplify the downstream work. Building of a desilting basin, necessary to prevent fouling of ditches and eliminate highly expensive silt removal throughout the system, probably will be delayed about a year. This feature of the project, still under examination by reclamation engineers, who are studying various means of removing waterborne mud and dirt, will be situated adjacent to the dam.

A contract for the construction of a dam 265 ft. high across the Verde River at Camp Verde was awarded to Foley Bros., Inc., St. Paul, Minn., last May at $3,190,591. The contract was contingent upon receiving government funds to finance the work.
